RICH TREASURE LYING BENEATH CONTEST SOIL

INDUSTRIOUS VOTE GROWERS
WILL RAISE AN ENORMOUS CROP.

SEED TIME IS AT HAND RIGHT
NOW.

SOW WISELY; REAP HIGHLY.

Here are the prizes Paducah and McCracken county candidates in the Sun's Contest stand to win:

Three Grand Prizes, which go to the three candidates, irrespective of district, who stand the highest at the close of the contests, August 4:

A fully equipped, latest pattern Ford automobile, with tourist seat, $1,000.

Second—$500 in cash.

Third—$330 in cash.

The McCracken county prizes are: A $400 Ward piano, sold by Boys & Miller Bros., which will go to the candidate standing highest in the county. Then the following prizes will be alternated between the succeeding candidates in the two districts into which the county has been divided: a one hundred and fifty dollar diamond, purchased from Joe Wolf; A hundred dollar buggy, purchased from Powell-Hoppers; a seventy-five dollar range purchased from Gen. O. Hart & Sons; a seventy-five dollar scholarship to the Paducah Central Business College; two fifty dollar watches, and two twenty-five dollar pieces of furniture.

The number of entries in the greatest newspaper contest ever conducted in this section of Kentucky is simply amazing. The Sun's daily mail has increased to startling proportions, and before the first publication of contestants is made, a world of work must be done in properly classifying these candidates and investigating their eligibility. For that reason it may be several days before the first list is printed. But when it is, the people of West Kentucky will be most pleasantly surprised to note the number and class of people who have interested themselves in this gigantic struggle.

This little explanation is made for the benefit of the many anxious inquirers who want to know "when will the first list be published?"

Just as a little preliminary advice to those who will be at the barrier when it is snapped, and a thousand or more contestants will leave the post in a bunch, the contest department wants to moralize a little bit. Perhaps no more fitting illustrations are found than in the John, simple fables of Asleep, and the following would seem to apply with particular force just at this time. It goes something like this:

"A certain husbandman, lying at the point of death, called his sons around him, and gave into their charge, his fields and vineyards, telling them that a treasure lay hidden somewhere in them, within a foot from the ground. His sons thought he spoke of money, which he had hidden, and after he was buried, they dug most industriously all over the estate, but found nothing. The soil being so well loosened, however, the succeeding crops were of unequalled richness, and the sons then found out what their father had in view in telling them to dig for hidden treasure."

Now that is just exactly what The

Prominent Men Will Take Part in Kentucky Bar Association Meeting, Which Will be Held Here July 7-8

Attorney Dennis Mocquot Receives List of Speakers Assigned by Program Committee.

Attorney Dennis Mocquot, member of the program committee of the State Bar association, has received the following list of speakers for the meeting here July 7 and 8:

Principal address by Hon. George W. Wickersharn, attorney general of the United States. He will select his own subject, but has not yet announced it.

Hon. John S. Lassing, of the Kentucky court of appeals, "Distinction Between Judicial and Legislative Functions."

Hon. Robert L. Stout, of Versailles, circuit judge, "Where the Law Fails."

Mr. Henry Burnett, of Louisville, "Kentucky's Contribution to Jurisprudence."

Mr. William Ayers, of Pineville, "Land Title in Kentucky."

Mr. Montgomery Merritt, of Henderson, "Future of Our Profession."

All of these subjects will be open for general discussion after the address is delivered by the selected speaker.

Methodist Conference

Paducah district conference of the Methodist church, south, embracing 23 pastoral charges, will convene at Fountain avenue church Friday, May 28. The opening sermon will be preached Thursday night probably by the Rev. A. C. Moore, of Clinton. The Rev. J. W. Blackard, presiding elder, will preside. The business sessions will occupy Friday and Saturday and on Sunday the protestant pupils will be filled by Methodist ministers. A laymen's rally will be held at the Broadway Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Sun and associated papers will say to contestants. Here is a great working mine of opportunity. It is going to be extremely worth while for every contestant to get out and "turn up the soil" in his particular district. The prizes are not buried, but by the proper cultivation of contest soil, such an abundant vote crop will result that they need have no fear of not "finding the treasure."

And that is the very thing that is going to happen. Just at this time the wise candidates are investigating the condition of their particular fields. They are looking the situation over with a critical eye and when they start they will know exactly what they are doing. It is safe to say that once this contest is under full swing which will be immediately after the first announcement of names a few days hence, West Kentucky is going to witness such a pawing up of the earth as was never before heard of in a similar venture in this section.

Line up your friends; know where they stand and how far you can depend upon them. You will want to know just when and where you can get them when they are needed. So prepare the soil now. Send in your name, or that of a friend. And don't forget the little lesson taught in the fable: The richest prize will go to the most industrious diggers!

That magnificent $1,000 Ford touring car made its first appearance on the streets of Paducah today and is certainly attracting the sort of comment that indicates that this mammoth contest proposition is taking hold of the people with a force that is unbelievable.

The ground floor is the place to get in on any proposition. Those who enter now will be in on the ground floor of the very abreast sub-cellars.

HANK GUARANTEE

New York, May 22.—The proposition to have surety companies guarantee deposits of national banks in Texas, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma in order to meet the situation presented by the state guarantees law and the refusal of the government to permit national banks to take advantage of the law, will be brought to a speedy conclusion. State banks are getting the business, causing national banks to suffer loss.

PREST. HARAHAN OF I. C. PASSING THROUGH TONIGHT

Paducah will be honored by a short visit this afternoon from J. T. Harahan, president, and F. B. Harriman, general manager, of the Illinois Central railroad. The officials will arrive from Cairo at 5:30 o'clock and after a short stop will proceed to Louisville. A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division; G. H. Groce, superintendent of telegraph and telephones; E. Mr. McNamee, assistant superintendent of the Louisville division, arrived last night from Louisville to meet the Chicago officials. Mr. Groce left this morning for Fulton and up to Cairo, but may return tonight.

The visit of the officials will not affect the shops in any way yet, although it is considered their visit will be in the interest of putting the telephone system into operation for handling trains. Mr. Groce, who has charge of the installation, this morning said that the telephones on the Louisville division would be put into operation next week, while the telephones on the Paducah district will be placed in operation the first week in June. The line is practically ready now, although much experimental work has been done on it. The officials have tried to adopt the best in every instance, and every change has been tried. The system will not be put into use at once, as the officials desire to break the employees into it gradually. At first only messages will be sent, and as they learn how to handle the instruments better the telephone will be used for handling the trains.

PEARL BUTTON INDUSTRY IS SEEKING FREE SITE.

Paducah has an opportunity to secure an industry for the manufacture of pearl buttons from mussel shells, which are plentiful in the rivers around the city. Mr. A. Tomlinson, representing a New York concern, is in the city and is impressed favorably with Paducah as a location for the factory. All the inducements he asks is a free site for the factory for five years, and probably the Commercial Club will take up the proposition.

The decision in favor of Dickson was unanimous, and it was elected with enthusiasm, because of the desire that the centenary should be celebrated at the birthplace of the church.

The session of the woman's board was devoted largely to the reading of papers in connection with the work. An interesting feature was an address by Mrs. N. J. Kanna, of Knoxville, Tenn., who told of the history and accomplishments of the organization. Reports of committees were also read and satisfactory progress reported, in the afternoon a reception was tendered by the local missionary society.

The legal question will be the subject of discussion, and it is proposed that plans shall be laid for a vigorous continuation of the debate now on with the Presbyterian church of the United States.

ALDRICH TARIFF BILL ATTACKED BY SEN. ELKINS

Washington, May 22.—Senator Aldrich today asked the Senate to fix June 2 at the date to take the final vote on the passage of the tariff bill. Senator Daniel objected and the matter went over.

The attention of some southern senators has been attracted to the peculiar situation in regard to the suggested tariff on cotton seed oil, which was indignantly rejected by them the other day. Aldrich offered to put a tax on the oil. Some southern senators said it needed no objection. It is now discovered that unless the bill is changed, in future oil will be taxable under the basket clause, 25 per cent ad valorem.

Sharp criticism of the Aldrich bill from an unexpected quarter came to-day when Elkins, of West Virginia, one of the stalwarts, delivered a broadside in opposition to the schedules presented by the finance committee and claimed the interests of West Virginia are sadly neglected.

Aldrich declared he thought there had been a good deal of irrelevance in the debate. Bailey, of Texas, objected to the statement and said there has been less of that kind upon any other tariff bill in the history of the country.

Little Doubt Remains That Dead Boy is Higgerson Riley; Father is on His Way Here to Identify Body

SMELLS OF FRAUD.

Washington, May 22.—The federal government's investigation into the New York customs frauds threatens disclosures more astounding than those recently unearthed in the false weighing of sugar. If fears of the treasury department officials are realized, a conspiracy will be unearthed, involving not only customs inspectors but several big importers, and a transportation company, and men higher up in the New York customs office.

Savannah, Ga., May 22.—In a recent session and an amendment to it adopted by the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church, President Taft is asked to use his influence with the Belgian government to postpone the trial of two American missionaries in the Congo, who are charged with "calumnlous denunciation" of the Kasai, a rubber company in which King Leopold is a principal stockholder, and then to see if that the missionaries are properly represented.

The resolution proper appoluted May 23, Sunday, a day of special prayer for the deliverance of the missionaries, Rev. Dr. William W. Morris and Rev. Dr. W. H. Sheppard, from any miscreations of justice under the forms of law, and also for the deliverance of the people of Congo Free State from the hand of the oppressor.

Dr. E. M. Green, of Danville, Va., introduced the resolution, and D. S. Henderson and A. Egan, A. C. the amendment, which embodies an appeal to the president. One of the leading opponents to the amendment was Dr. C. W. Grafton, of Mississippi, who stated that it was contrary to the church policy to appeal to the civil authorities; that the assembly is ecclastic strictly, and that the proper representations had already been made to the government.

Rev. Richard Orme Flynn, of Atlanta, read from the church articles of government, which provide that no appeal shall be made to civil authorities except in the form of an humble petition and in extraordinary cases. He urged that the amendment was humble and the case extraordinary.

The vote was taken and showed the younger men of the assembly lined up behind the amendment. Some of the older heads were opposed to it. R. C. Reed, of Columbia, S. C., was heard on "Calvin's Contribution to the Reformation," and at last night T. C. Johnson, of Richmond, Va., on "Calvin's Contribution to Church Policy."

The membership of the standing committees of the assembly was announced.

Two Candidates Out

The small interest evinced in the Democratic primary and the refusal of the great majority of the party, who oppose Davis Cross for re-election, has encouraged two Republicans to make a try for the nomination. Thomas N. Hazell today announced his candidacy for the nomination, in opposition to John J. Dorinn, who announced several weeks ago.

In his letter the undertaker at Kansas City said the coroner was holding the pistol in his possession as evidence of a possible murder of the boy, but that he would express it to J. W. Hite. He failed to mention the make of the revolver. Riley owned an Iver-Johnson revolver of .32 caliber.

The many friends of Higgerson Riley believe that he is the dead boy and express sorrow. His happy manner, and winning ways, captured many friends for him. The boy was a constant reader, and was a regular visitor at the public library.

Held from Owensboro.

The Owensboro Inquirer says:

"Henderson was accompanied with by telephone, and it is believed here that the body buried at Paducah as Richard Hite is undoubtedly that of Higgerson Riley. Young Riley was last heard from in Atchison, Kas.,

They will return to Fort Myer, Washington, to take lessons from the Wright brothers and Heiring in the handling of aeroplanes. These machines, if they meet the requirements of the war department, will be experimented with, but their delivery has little other than a scientific interest, for the department has no fund with which to purchase more than one each.

Despite the apparent apathy on the part of congress, efforts will be continued by the signal corps to establish to the satisfaction of the national legislators the value of the aeroplane in military operations. American inventors have achieved their success in the face of a disheartening lack of interest and support from the government. Prof. Langley who, it is acknowledged, did more for aeronautics than any other person with the exception of the Wrights, was made the target of ridicule by certain congressmen whose knowledge of the problems of flight was confined to the observation of birds. The Wrights themselves happen to be in the United States because the war department saw fit to use a portion of the fund appropriated for the board of ordnance and fortification to encourage them in their work. Even the medal voted the Wright brothers in honor of their achievement will not be done by a noted artist because congress did not supply sufficient money for this purpose. The design will be executed at the mint.

is still a hypothetical one. It is pointed out that it is no easy matter to drop a bomb with any accuracy which might have a destructive effect from great heights.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Louisville Woman's Club was held Wednesday afternoon at the club building, Fourth Avenue, near Oak street. The report of Mrs. George C. Avery, the president, and those of the chairmen of the various committees, were read and approved. It was shown that the club now has a membership of 341, twenty-four of whom were added during the past year. The report of Mrs. Avery was a very carefully prepared paper, and sets forth clearly the achievements of the club during the year 1908. She said that co-operation had been the rule in every committee, and that this had had the effect of making the club effective in all of its undertakings. It was set forth that two distinct changes had been tested during the year, one providing that no member could serve on more than one committee, and the other that Wednesday should be club day. Both had proved beneficial, the president said. Eight important lectures were given under the auspices of the club. The following are newly-elected chairmen of the seven committees and the work outlined for them for the coming year:

Mrs. Samuel H. Kirby, chairman on the literature committee; Dramatic Element in the Old Testament.

Mrs. Patty Thorne, chairman of the art committee.

Mrs. Emily Davidson, chairman of the music committee; Instrumental and choral recitals.

Mrs. Edmund H. Bacon, chairman of committee on current events.

Mrs. John D. White, chairman of civic committee; a city, sanitary, convenient and beautiful.

Mrs. Henry Burnett, chairman of committee on lectures.

Mrs. William A. Northcutt, chairman of hospital committee.

The work of the new year will not begin until the next meeting of the club on October 6, which is known as president's day.

Enjoyable Surprise Party.

Miss Madie Mayers, of 1106 South Fourth street, was pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening at her home, in honor of her thirteenth birthday. The parlor was prettily decorated with cut flowers and ferns and the color scheme of pink and green was effectively carried throughout the decorations. During the evening dainty refreshments were served and the time was enjoyed spent with music and games. Those present were: Misses Mabel Berry, Muriel Smedley, Jessie Gocket, Lalla Robinson, Jessie Smedley, Inez Bell, Ruble, Emma and Madie Mayers, Meers, Richard, Clyde and Oran Bell, Ollie Barnett, Harry Naggs, Robert Trantham, Chester Kerth, Will Clark and Charles Keagan.

Nashville Party of Interest Here.

The Nashville Banner of Friday says:

"Mrs. Hamilton Parks entertained most delightfully at luncheon at 1 o'clock today at her home on West End avenue, complimentary to Mrs. H. N. McClung, of Duluth, who has been spending the winter at Biloxi, and who is now en route home. A wealth of mountain laurel, roses and other flowers of the season decorated the reception rooms and the dining-room, illuminated by rose-hued tapers on the sideboard and about the room, was decorated in pink. Three cut glass receptacles on the table held large pink peacock feathers, and the exquisite covers used were of drawn linen and Italian lace. The place cards were Japanese fans ornamented with heads, with cards attached by pink ribbons. The tea course in the tempting menu of eight courses was particularly pretty. It was a mint charlotte decorated with candy roses, served with pink rose cakes. Mrs. Park's guests besides the honoree were: Madames Charles H. Eastman, G. P. Edwards, Jordan Stokes, George Kirkpatrick, William Woolwine, Ernest Pillow, James Palmer, Alton Wade, Roger Eastman, Hunter McDonald and Houston Fall, of El Paso, Tex., and Miss Harriet Helms. Mrs. Park's house guest, who is a very gifted amateur entertainer, will give a charming program."

The Cairo Woman's Club.

The Cairo Woman's Club held an interesting program meeting this week. National Hymns were entertainingly featured. The Cairo Bulletin says:

"After the business meeting an excellent paper was read by Mrs. J. E. Strong on the national hymn of England and illustrated it by singing 'God Save the King.'

"A very interesting paper on the national hymn of France was read by Mrs. Albert Gallagher and illustrated by singing 'Marseilles.'

on the German national hymns. To illustrate this Miss Bell, teacher of German in the High school, came down with her German class and sang 'The Watch on the Rhine' in German, which was very fine and much appreciated by the Woman's club. The class had been practicing under the supervision of Miss Miller, teacher of music, and Miss Bell.

"The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" were sung by the Woman's club, illustrating the American national hymns.

A handsome brochure, artistically illustrated, has been issued by the passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System, telling of the Lake of Bays district, in the "Highlands of Ontario." A new feature of this district is the new hotel—the Wawa—at Norway Point. The hotel itself has a page illustration reflecting the summer glories of woodland and water, with a brood of seven wild geese soaring skyward beyond the tower. The concise description embodies the story of a charming resort.

SOME STORIES

AROUND TOWN

Business instinct and economy so enter into a man's day existence, that sometimes he forgets the ordinary niceties of life. A man appeared at the city hall yesterday and asked for a rebate of the price of one lot in Oak Grove cemetery. He was moving away, he said. He told that when his mother died, he purchased two lots. He only needed one.

"Why did you buy two, when you needed only one?" he was asked.
"Well, my wife was sick at the time, and I thought while I was buying a lot, I might just as well buy two."

He got his money back.

In the course of a lawsuit, during which the evening meal was indiscriminately called by witnesses dinner and supper, the jury became so confused that the judge was compelled to explain that the evening meal properly is supper. Some people will argue that the jury was made stupid by eating a big meal in the middle of the day.

CONDEMNING AND REFORMING.

The world will always have two kinds of reformer; the mere prude, who can see the world detached on all occasions, but can do no more than vainly protest against the inevitable; and the constructive, progressive reformer, who takes advantage of every opportunity to turn evil into good. The moving picture show is an example.

Some people utterly condemn it, because of the frivolousness of its comic pictures, and the bad influence of erotic pictures, now happily generally proscribed. But of what avail is their condemnation. People will go to them, and they will gain much amusement and no little instruction from the pictures. Some plough people have protested against the theater from time immemorial, and they have neither abolished the theater, detracted from its popularity nor improved it.

The moving picture show is capable of doing much good along with its entertainment. Assuredly it has brought foreign countries and manners home to people, who cannot afford to travel. There are many ways in which the moving picture show can be made to subserve a useful purpose in the community, and therein lies the opportunity for reform.

Weekly Comments on Things About Town.

Will some of the ladies of the D. A. please give a demonstration, public or private, of the proper way to get a drink out of the new fountain. Of course it is out of date to use a cup, but what is the best manner to procure the liquid with due respect not only to hygiene but also to desirability? We pause for a reply.

Our friend, The Travelling Man, called our attention to an incident out at the Union station the other day, and furnished the explanation and comments. The morning train pulled in and a party of young farmers alighted. Instantly they were greeted by a smooth looking individual, who gave them all the "giant hand," and presently started towards town with the whole party in tow. "That man," said our friend, "is a runner for a barrel and jug house down town and he meets the trains, gets hold of these farmer boys, and one need not be told the result. Such things as these are enough to make you join the prohibition crowd." The Spectator is not aware how far these methods obtain with the liquor trade, but it is certain that nothing could be calculated more sure to bring about the reaction of prohibition than just such methods. That runner and his house did not represent the morals of the town nor even the better element of the liquor business, nevertheless those boys reeling home drunk that night, each with a jug under his arm, gives the average farmer his idea of the morals of the city, and we cannot blame them if they retaliate with their only weapon of defense, the County Unit Vote.

We respectfully submit to the park commissioners for their consideration, whether Paducah is not now large enough to provide public play grounds for the children. All over town there are vacant lots, the use of which could be secured rent free, and the apparatus necessary would cost but little to equip them with swings, basket ball, croquet, see-saw and other amusements. The Spectator recently saw such a play ground, fitted out by a neighborhood itself, at a cost of something like $25, and it furnished amusement for more than a hundred children, off the street, away from danger, and in a sane manner. Worth thinking of?

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, May 22.—Almost every development, except the lengthening debate on the tariff, is favorable, and the gains made in spite of the tariff disturbance are a fair indication of what may be expected when that is out of the way. Domestic agricultural conditions are excellent and yet the prices of farm products continue to advance. The area of improvement in iron and steel is rapidly widening and a notable event of the week in the restoration of wages by independent producers. Reports of railroads are of steadily increasing business and latest earnings show a gain of 14.9 per cent over last year, the decrease compared with 1907 being 12.8 per cent.

The primary cotton goods market still continues to be dominated by the high level of prices for raw material. The print cloth market is still very firm, with sales moderate, and more demand on the finer counts for converters and cutters. In the woolen goods division duplicate business on heavy weights has been fairly satisfactory, and greater improvement is anticipated, as clothiers now know the general trend of the demand.

The principal feature of the trade is the higher level of prices at which business is being done. In the dress goods division a scarcity in the fall season is anticipated. The general level of yarn prices is higher, although comparatively little increase in business is noted.

Slight improvement in shoe conditions still continues, and while there has been no especially heavy trade

ONE IN THREE.

Every Third Person Poisoned by Coffee.

It is difficult to make people believe that coffee is an absolute poison to at least one person out of every three, but people are slowly finding it out, although thousands of them suffer terribly before they discover the fact. A New York hotel man says:

"Each time after drinking coffee I became restless, nervous and excited, so that I was unable to sit five minutes in one place, was also inclined to vomit and suffered from loss of sleep, which got worse and worse."

A lady said that perhaps coffee was the cause of my trouble, and suggested that I try Postum. I laughed at the thought that coffee hurt me, but she insisted so hard that I finally had some Postum made. I have been using it in place of coffee ever since, for I noticed that all my former nervousness and irritation disappeared. I began to sleep perfectly and the Postum tasted as good or better than the old coffee, so what was the use of sticking to a beverage that was ruining me?

"One day on an excursion up the country I remarked to a young lady friend on her greatly improved appearance. She explained that some time before she had quit using coffee and taken Postum.

"She had gained a number of pounds and her former palpitations of the heart, humming in the ears, trembling of the hands and legs and other disagreeable feelings had disappeared.

"She recommended me to quit coffee and take Postum and was very surprised to find that I had already made the change.

"She said her brother had also received great benefits from leaving off coffee and taking on Postum. 'There's a reason.'

SENATOR CLAY ON THE SUGAR TRUST*One of Most Scathing Speeches in Senate.

Goes Into Question Deeply and Sarcastically in His Address in Upper House.

SPEECH DELIVERED TODAY

Washington, May 22. (United Press)—The most scathing arraignment that the Sugar trust has ever been subjected to on the floor of congress was delivered in the Senate today by Senator Clay, of Georgia, during the debate on the sugar schedule of the pending tariff bill.

“The Sugar trust,” he declared, “has constantly violated both the civil and criminal laws of our country. It is unconscionable and has continually robbed the American people since its organization. Instead of knocking at the door of congress seeking to increase its fortunes at the expense of the masses of the people, its officers ought to be at the bar of the criminal courts, and instead of enjoying their ill-gotten wealth they deserve to be serving long terms in our federal prisons.

“Every day in the year since it was organized, the sugar trust has violated both the civil and criminal laws passed by congress to protect the American people against these unlawful and wicked combinations. The trust has flitched the treasury of the United States out of more than ten millions of revenue that justly belonged to the treasury of the United States, needed to pay the legitimate expenses of the government.”

Referring to the recent revelations of fraud in connection with the weighing of sugar at the New York custom house, Senator Clay continued:

“The public press has announced that the sugar trust has paid into the treasury more than $2,000,000, of which large sum its officers and agents had robbery the treasury of the United States. Suit is now pending in New Jersey against this trust to recover a million of dollars for revenues due the government, and it is admitted by the officers of this company, including its counsel, that this unprincipled organization has robbed the American people of this vast sum which they are now trying to compromise. The trust deserves no mercy at the hands of congress and most assuredly no favors at the hands of congress. The criminal and civil laws ought to be rigorously enforced against it, and the best way to destroy it is to give it healthy foreign competition.”

Hits Aldrich.

Discussing the tariff bill in general and Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, in particular, Mr. Clay said in conclusion:

“The senator admits that we are spending $50,000,000 each year more than we ought to expend to administer this government. I challenge the senator to point out during the last twelve years a single instance where he has made any effort to reduce our expenditures. Why, during this last session of congress, when an effort was made to increase the salary of the president to $100,000 per year and to almost double the salaries of the federal judges, the senator from Rhode Island exerted every influence possible to secure its increase.

“When did the senator become clamorous for economy and reform? Ah, Mr. President, when he saw that the income tax in all probability would become a law, he became alarmed and endeavored to show the country that we could produce enough revenue and reduce the tariff downward to support the country without an income tax. And he was exceedingly anxious when the income tax confronted him to cut down the expenses of the government to avoid the adoption of an income tax to save the millions of the nation from spending in paying the legitimate expenses of the government.

“The senator has not been consistent. He has never stood for economical, plain, simple government. The senator has never had any political associations with ideas of this character. He represents what is called in his party the ‘Stalwarts.’ He has never stood for the principles of the American Sugar Refining company, commonly called the sugar trust, has repeatedly sold considerable quantities of sugar for export at nearly 2 cents per pound less than the price quoted in the domestic market. If the American Sugar Refining company, commonly called the sugar trust, can export and sell sugar at 3 cents per pound abroad and this trust sells the same sugar in America at nearly 5 cents per pound, who can wonder that the sugar trust has doubled, and even quadrupled its investment yearly?

“Shall we continue to legislate in the interest of criminals and against the interest of the American people? If this sugar schedule shall be enacted into law in the interest of these confessed criminals, who have openly combined and confederated to destroy all competition, and who have wrung from the American people more than fifty millions per year profits and who have robed the government of at least ten millions of its revenue justly due the government, then what hope has the American people?”

Criminals in Control.

“The operations of the sugar trust with the government and the indictments now pending against the employees of the trust, demonstrate beyond question that those in control of this combine are criminals and have been criminals since its organization. The defense that the officials underweighing and smuggling from the government is not worthy of the consideration of any intelligent man. These employees, drawing small salaries working for wages, were directed by those high in authority. The officers of the sugar trust were not even willing to make a reasonable divide with the employees who committed these crimes, giving them each $5 per week for stealing, while such thefts brought to them and their associates on an average of more than two hundred thousand per month.

“If we are to continue to legislate millions of profits into the pockets of this class of men at the expense of the American people, then let us adopt the sugar schedule provided by the finance committee of the senate.”

The senator declared that the consumption of sugar in the United States in 1908 was 2,185,789 tons; about 81 pounds per capita. Nearly two-thirds came from foreign countries.

“The sugar trust controls nearly all the refineries in the United States,” he continued, “and controls the entire market in this country. The beet and cane sugar growers are compelled to take the price fixed by the sugar trust. The total duties on sugar paid by the American people in 1907 was $54,310,082.

“The average market value of sugar last year was: In Hamburg, 2.64; London, 3.22, and in New York, 4.36. Our sugar consumption, at the Hamburg price, would have been less last year, by $136,080,000. Of this vast amount the government received $53,000,000 in customs revenues and the balance of $83,080,000 went to the sugar trust. During the last 12 years the American people have paid to the government sugar taxes aggregating $600,000,000. In the same time they have paid to the sugar trust profits to the amount of $600,000,000. If raw and refined sugar were admitted free to this country the cost to the consumer would be reduced nearly one-half.

“The senate finance committee has granted the trust all the favors desired without a hearing and so has the ways and means committee of the house. We were called in special session to make a substantial revision of the tariff and here is one item that costs the American people nearly $200,000,000 a year and there has not been given to this item the slightest attention.

Hits Aldrich.

Joel B. Fort Receives Hot Answer From Felix G. Ewing in Public Card.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 22.—General Manager Felix G. Ewing, of the Planters' Protective Association, has issued a card of several thousand words in reply to a published statement of Joel B. Fort, the deposed orator of the organization, who intimated that Mr. Ewing had asked and received from that body a gift of $5,000, an annual salary of $5,000 and expenses and was waiting a favorable time to demand $10,000 a year for his services.

Mr. Ewing says he is averse to controversies and is too absorbed in the work of the association to enter into one with Mr. Fort, but that he desires to correct some misstatements made by the latter. He claims that neither directly or indirectly has he or any member of his family asked for position in the organization, and that when the $5,000 gift was made he was prone on his back in a hospital and knew nothing of the action of the directors until informed by his wife. He quotes a letter from Presdent Charles H. Fort, brother of Joel, which says that the committee "willingly, cheerfully, gladly and religiously with one accord voted you (Mr. Ewing) $5,000." He further says that he had been paid no salary for his services and that six months after his return from the hospital he told the directors that he thought he should receive regular compensation for his work. During his absence from the room and without any suggestion from him whatever the board voted him an annual salary of $5,000.

As in Mr. Fort's charge that he was planning to have his salary raised to $10,000 a year, he says that a few months ago he mentioned to several directors that he was performing his duties at a sacrifice, as they nequainted him practically abandoning his own affairs. Quite a number of the board told him they would willingly support a resolution to double his compensation. This proposal, he says, had a "handsome majority" had it been put to a vote, but Mr. Ewing says, he was in doubt whether it would have been for the best owing to the fact that many members of the association were very poor and suffering greatly for the proceeds of unsold tobacco. Voluntarily he had the matter dropped with the mere statement that he should have to devote more time to his personal affairs. He was told that the directors wished him to do this and take life easier and not allow the association to become such a complete burden to him.

Concerning Mr. Fort's statement that Mr. Ewing "had been vaccinated for a Moses, and it did not take, and that he ran for a Solomon, and got lost at the post," the general manager quotes extensively extracts from letters of President Charles H. Fort and Joel H. Fort praising him in the most lavish and extravagant terms for his wisdom, loyalty and untiring energy in the management of the association. In one letter Mr. Joel H. Fort writes: "I speak the sentiment of the Black Patch when I say that no man ever returned to a more thankful and grateful people, no man ever came to more loving and appreciative hearts, and, most of all, the unanimous sentiment of people who know and appreciate your faithful and patriotic services in 'Old Blue' Felix G. Ewing."

PRESBYTERIANS

The urgency of religious education were the subjects discussed by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church today.

Two other subjects which threaten to cause much parliamentary conflict, the report of the executive commission and the report of the committee on administrative agencies, were brought before the assembly.

Dr. Moffatt predicted that this session would see the adoption of a plan whereby the eight administrative boards of the church would, to a large degree, be consolidated.

The committee on marriage and divorce called attention to the increasing number of divorces as shown by the national census. It is a story, the reports say, "that surprises the people and shames a Christian nation." The committee asked further time to consider the subject and report to the next assembly. Sunday observance has been gone into at great length and the results of investigations given. The report on the subject, submitted today, follows:

Sabbath Observance.

Among the reports presented to the assembly today was that of the special committee on Sabbath observance. The report says that the battle for the maintenance of the American Christian Sabbath the past year has been more aggressive than ever.

The committee commends Canada's aim for 1909 as the world's motto: "1. That no employer for gain shall demand unnecessary work on the Lord's Day of any employee."

"2. That no employee for gain shall willingly work at unnecessary work on any Lord's Day."

In conclusion the committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

"That the authority of the Christian Sabbath is found in the law of God and confirmed by the Lord Jesus Christ."

"That the general assembly expresses its strong conviction that the sacred character of the Sabbath must be carefully and strenuously maintained, and to this end enjoins all ministers, officers and members of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America to exercise special care and faithfulness, and encourage holding funerals on that day."

"That the general assembly reiterates its strong and emphatic disapproval of all secular uses of the day, all games and sports, in civil as also in army and navy, all unnecessary traveling and all excursions and urges upon all employers of labor and captains of industry to recognize the need of the laboring man for his weekly rest day, and thereby insure his greater efficiency and happiness and the greater prosperity of both capital and labor."

"That the general assembly urges all families not to buy anything on the Sabbath, to plan for their servants on the Sabbath and to help them fulfill their religious duties, and to pay laborers so that they may have Saturday afternoon to make provision for the Sabbath."

"That this assembly heartily endorses the plan of the Saturday half holiday, and recognizes it as tending to the better observance of the Sabbath."

"That the general assembly hereby reiterates its emphatic condemnation of the Sunday newspaper and urges the members of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America to refuse to subscribe for it or read it or advertise in it."

"That the general assembly respectfully requests the faculties of colleges and seminaries, if the way be clear, to omit recitations on Monday mornings, so as to leave the Sabbath free from the felt necessity of some of the students to prepare their lessons on that day."

"It's no use, Stark. We heard you say she killed herself. We were standing outside the door, both of us, and got it from your own lips."

"Until this moment the man had stood on his own feet, but now he began to sag, aching which Poleon supported him to the bed, where he sank weakly, collapsing in every joint and muscle."

"It's a job," he snarled. "You put this up, you three, and came here to go me." An unnatural shudder convulsed him as his wounds bit at him, and then he flared up viciously. "But I'll beat you all. I've got the girl. I've got her!"

"Neela!" cried Burrell, suddenly remembering, for this affray had driven all else from his mind.

Stark crouched on the edge of his bunk, a ghastly gray grinning thing. One weapon still remained to him, and he meant to use it.

"Yes, I've got my daughter."

"Where is she?" demanded the trader hoarsely. "Where's my girl?"

The gambler chuckled. An agony seized him till he hiccoughed and strangled. Then, as the spell passed, he laughed again.

"She's got you in her head, like the mother had, but I'll drive it out. I'll treat her like I did her."

Gale uttered a terrible cry and moved upon him, but Burrell shouldered the trader aside, himself possessed by a cold fury that intensified his strength tenfold.

"Stop it, Gale. Let me attend to this. I'll make him tell."

"Oh, will you?" mocked the girl's father.

"Where is she?"

"None of your d—d business!" Again he was seized with a paroxysm that left him shivering and his lips colorless. The blankets were soaked and soggy with blood, and his feet rested in a red pool.

"Beast Stark," said the tortured lover, "you're a sick man, and you'll be gone in half an hour at this rate. Won't you do one decent thing before you die?"

"Bash! I'm all right."

"I'll get you a doctor if you'll tell me where she is. If you don't—I'll let you die. For God's sake, man, speak up!"

The wounded man strove to rise, but could not, then considered for a moment before he said:

"I sent her away."

"Where?"

"Up river on that freighter that left last night. She'll go out by Skagway, and I'll join her later, where I can have her to myself. She's forty miles up river now and getting farther every minute. Oh, you can't catch her!"

The three men stared at one another blankly.

"Why did she go?" said Gale dutifully.

"Because I told her who she was and who you are; because she thinks you killed her mother; because she was glad to get away." Now that he was grown too weak to inflict violent pain the man lied unconvincingly, gloating over what he saw in the trader's face.

"Never mind, old man; I'll bring her back," said Hurrell and laid a comforting hand on Gale's shoulder, for the fact that she was safe, the fact of knowing something, relieved him immensely, but Stark's next words plunged him into even blacker horror than the trader felt.

"You won't want her if you catch her. Rimmon will see to that."

"Rimmon?"

"Yes, I sent him with her."

The lover cried out in anguish and bid his face in his hands.

"He's wanted her for a long time, so I told him to go ahead."

None of them noticed Poleon Dore, who upon this unnatural confession alone seemed to retain sufficient control to shout and to reason. He was thinking hard, straightening out certain facts and trying to square this terrible statement with things he had seen and heard tonight. All of a sudden he uttered a great cry and bolted out into the darkness unheeded by Gale and Burrell, who stood dazed and distraught with a fear greater than that which was growing in Stark at sight of his wounds.

The gambler looked down at his injuries, opened and closed the fingers of his hand as if to see whether he still maintained control of them, then cried out at the two helpless men:

"Well, are you going to let me bleed to death?"

It brought the soldier out of his trance.

"Why—not. We'll get a doctor."

But Gale touched him on the shoulder and said: "He's too weak to get out. Look him in and let him die in the dark."

Stark cursed affrightedly, for it is a terrible thing to bleed to death in the dark, and in spite of himself the lieutenant wavered.

"I can't do that. I promised."

"He told that lie to my girl. He gave her to that bound," said the trader, but Burrell shoved him through the door.

"No; I can't do that!" And then to the wounded man he said, "I'll get a doctor, but God have mercy on your soul!" He could not trust himself to talk further with this creature nor be near him any longer, for though he had a slight knowledge of surgery, he would sooner have touched a loathsome serpent than the flesh of this monstrous man.

He pushed Gale ahead of him, and the old man went like a driven beast, for his violence had wasted itself, and he was like a person under the spell of a strong drug.
